FOOD FOR THOUGHT

Arthur Brisbane has revealed a bit of history that will be interesting to many: "Here's food for the superstitious. Five different presidents died, as regards their section, at twenty-year periods. They are: Harrison, elected in 1840; Lincoln in 1860; Garfield, 1880; McKinley, second term, in 1900; President Harding, 1920.

KLAN PAYS TRIBUTE

The Ku Klux Klan paid tribute to President Harding last Saturday night when 2000 men gathered about the Court House in Xenia when a cross was burned. A large banner was displayed stating that Warren G. Harding was a 100 per cent American. At the opening of the service a cry man knelt in silent prayer. Rev. Middleton, Xenia, Ave. Wesley, Spring Valley, Rev. Although, Jamestown, took part in the services. The crowd sang "Nearer My God to Thee."

COURT HOUSE CLOSING

The County Commissioners at their meeting Monday passed a resolution that all county offices will be closed all day Friday in recognition of the death of President Harding. Many industries over the country will be closed for the entire day while others will stop for the funeral hour or blow the whistles at intervals. All business places will be closed during the hour of the funeral from three to four.

MOTHER'S THRONE

A great deal is being said and written about woman's position. Superficial men and women are talking about the broader field for woman, about woman's opportunities, about her equality with man, and about her rights. It would be most difficult to find a series of subjects more disgusting, more superficial and insulting to woman's position. It may be that some poor, neglected, long-suffering and over-burdened wife has listened to the siren's song of the larger liberties of woman. She no doubt longs for the day when she can open the front gate and admit the sidewalk of unimpeded female liberty. It may be these sentiments were born in the brain of some masculinely inclined woman. They have watched their poor desperate brothers marching forth as prodigal sons and wondered why they could not have the same rights. Whether these subjects are discussed seriously or frivolously, all will be compelled to arrive at the conclusion that the highest, broadest, dearest and grandest place on earth is woman's indestructible throne—home, sweet home. You cannot send women to the seas without neglecting the front door of their sanctuaries—home, sweet home. You cannot put women in the position of competitive competition with men without neglecting the front door of their sanctuaries—home, sweet home. You cannot put women in competition with men and continue to populate the earth. You cannot find a substitute for home. The position which rears its head every day of woman's life and the heart of man's is woman's throne—home, sweet home. You cannot put women in competition with men and continue to populate the earth. You cannot find a substitute for home. The position which rears its head every day of woman's life and the heart of man's is woman's throne—home, sweet home.

A Farmer's View of the Railroads

"I THINK that the farming business and the railroad business are so utterly dependent upon each other, their interests are so identical that the man who drives a wedge between them is either crazy or he is a crook."

"What I want most of all is service and I don't see how any railroad can give it unless it has a good safe track and sufficient cars and the ample power to pull them, and that means ENOUGH MONEY to buy them."

"The question before us is not 'shall we save a few dollars on freight?' but 'shall the railroad business remain a business or shall it be a government agency owned in common but run by political employees?' If it is to remain a business it will have to be run as a business and run to pay at least six per cent. for its owners. If it is to be communized, that is owned in common, I am just warning you that the communists will not wish to stop there. They will some day covet your farms."

"They can't have mine!"

F. L. Chapman, Editor, "Better Farming."

Agriculture, transportation and industry are three mighty elements in America's greatness. Their interests are one and inseparable—now and always. Neither can prosper, in any substantial and lasting way, save as the others prosper in equal degree.

LESSON FOR AUGUST 12

MARTHA AND MARY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 10:38-42; John 11:1-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Mary hath chosen that good part which shall not be taken away from her."—Luke 10:42.
REFERENCE MATERIAL—Proverbs 10:1-11.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Loyal Friends of Jesus.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Martha and Mary.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—True Friendship Shown by Martha and Mary.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Home Problems Illustrated by Martha and Mary.

In order to properly understand these two characters, it will be necessary to look at the several narratives in which they are related to our view. These are three in number.

I. The Behavior of Martha and Mary in the Days of Sunshine. (Luke 10:38-42).

In this picture we see Martha engaged in preparing a meal for Jesus. In her effort to make the best preparation for her honored guest, she became distracted. She not only was bothered with much serving but she found fault with Mary for not helping her. She even censured the Lord for permitting such neglect. Martha has had her followers in all ages. Every church knows them. The busy, troubled and busy women who are engaged in service for the Lord with little patience for those who sit at the feet of Jesus. Mary sat at Jesus' feet and heard His word. She had taken her turn in the service as the word "also" would imply. She did not neglect service, but had the keenness of perception to discern that communion with the Lord was more prized by Him than the serving of a meal. Both of these women loved the Lord and it is impossible to say which loved Him more. In the days of sunshine in this home, Mary made the good choice of communion with her Lord.

II. Mary and Martha in the Day of Great Sorrow. (John 11:1-44).

The next scene which occupies our attention is the occasion of the resurrection of Lazarus. In the time of the sickness of Lazarus, these sisters went for Jesus. Jesus loved the members of this household, and yet strange to say, He delayed His going unto them. Martha met Him with rebuke, saying that if He had been there her brother had not died. This carried with it such trying circumstances. This act of Martha called forth some marvelous teachings on the resurrection. After this interview with Martha, she came to Mary with the message of a call from Jesus. Mary was composed and remained in the house until called for. She immediately responded to this call and used the identical words of Martha, but instead of rebuking her, He mingled His tears of sympathy with hers of sorrow. The reason she had such composure in this dark hour was that she had patiently sat at His feet and listened to His word so that she understood the meaning of the tragedy. The difference then in the behavior of these two women in this dark hour was doubtless due to the fact that in the days of sunshine Mary had entered fully into fellowship with the Lord and the Lord had lost this grace through her selfishness.

III. Jesus Entertained at Bethany. (John 11:5-9).

At this supper appeared Mary, Martha and Lazarus, who was raised from the dead. Doubtless this supper was in grateful appreciation of His help and sympathy in the days of their trial. At this meal Martha was back at her old business of serving, but it would seem with an untroubled disposition. Mary took a pound of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped them with her hair. This was a token of her great love and devotion. She was back in her accustomed place at the feet of Jesus. With the keen intuition of true love, she brought her costliest gift as an evidence of her love. She thus anticipated His death and burial, knowing that she could not minister unto Him then. The Lord received this act of love at its full value. Against the foul criticism of Judas, Jesus defended Mary. He declared that it was no mere a waste than the ointment placed on the bodies of the dead in embalment. In fact it was the doing of this very act beforehand unto Him. Only Mary of all His disciples had really understood Jesus when He said He must be crucified and raised again the third day. The announcement of His crucifixion brought unto the others dismay. They refused to believe in the resurrection, but Mary came to anoint His body for burying.

Manners.
Manners should bespeak the man independent of fine clothing. The general does not need a fine coat.—Emerson.

Jesus Christ.
Jesus Christ, the co-redemption of divinity, and the exaltation of humanity.—Phillips Brooks.

Action of the Mind.
The mind unlearns with difficulty what has long been impressed on it.

His auto hit head-on with that of Leo Snodgrass. It is claimed that both machines were driven without lights. Gordin was using a hand flash light to warn other drivers.
